Winter Wonderland for Carnival Weekend

EDITH STEVENS—1958 Carnival Queen

Edith Regina

On the evening of Friday, February 28, the highlight of the Carnival came as a crowd gathered around the athletic field for the crowning of the queen, who was chosen by popular vote of the student body.

Excitement stirred the crowd; all waited expectantly to see who would reign over the week end festivities. Suddenly a hush fell over them as the royal procession made its way up from the Field House to the throne of snow. Music filled the air. Led by the captain of the ski team, Bill Ide, the sleigh, bearing the queen and drawn by members of the team appeared. Then the magical moment came when her majesty, Edith Stevens, stepped into full view, wearing a crimson robe and a sparkling crown. She was followed by her attendants Sara Ault, Peggy Luke, Sandra Olson and Heath Sandbach, who aided in carrying her train.

After Edith was escorted to her throne, she was crowned Queen of the Carnival by Mr. Ireland, with Jean Marcuse as crown bearer. This was a memorable sight; red torches lighted the sky and falling snow.

Following the coronation, Edith "knighted" the members of the ski team with her magic wand. The queen and her court, escorted by the ski team, then left the athletic field and went to the Girls' Dorm where Coronation Refreshments were served.

The crisp winter air, the snow falling, the music and tradition of the carnival made this evening a beautiful and happy occasion for all, especially our proud, brown eyed queen. Congratulations, Edith!

Student Talent Presents:

CHAPMAN CLUB CONCERT

On Friday, March 10, at 8:00 p.m., the William Rogers Chapman Club presented its annual concert at the William Bingham Gymnasium.

The selections were taken from Mediterranean and Latin-American styles of music. The purpose of this was to show the many influences composers and music of one country have in the development of music in another country. The first number was "Scherzo in E flat" by Beethoven, played by Dawne Christie.

The audience was first taken to Italy. Mary Head, clarinet, played "Scherzo" by Crabucci with Ann Carter accompanying. Kent Taylor, saxophone, then played "Italian Serenade," also by Crabucci, accompanied by Donald Christie. "Marianina," a traditional Italian song, was sung by four boys, accompanied by Dawne Christie. Charles Merrill, tenor, sang "Chiribiribin" by Pestalozzi; a variation of this was done by Michael Hathaway, trumpet, and James Bennett, trombone, with Mary Head at the piano. The Italian section was concluded with an accordion solo by Louise Kennedy playing "Rumanian Rhapsody."

The French portion was opened by "Chanson" played by Royden Ward, clarinet, Ruth Willard, accompanist, and written by Gliere. James Bennett, trombone, then played the "Hananera" by Bizet, accompanied by Mary Head. The instrumental group then played two selections, "Prelude" and "Marche Pontificale."

The program was concluded by the Spanish and Latin-American selections. Linwood Small, flute, with Donald Christie at the piano played "Andalucia" by Lecuona. Two Tangos, "Addios Muchachos" and "Jealousy," were played by Louise Kennedy, accordion, and Mike Hathaway and Dave Hobson, trumpets, Bill Tallon, percussion, and Dawne Christie, piano. Two group songs, "Brazilian Rose" and "Indian Lament," were taken respectively from Brazil and Peru. A group of two trumpets, a saxophone and two pianos played "Tres Amigos" by McKay. The program was brought to a close with "Melodija Adela" played by Jon Day, William Tallon, percussion, Donald Christie, piano, and Dawne Christie, bells.

Many thanks go to Mr. Marcuse, Miss Swift and all the stage hands who made the program possible.

ONE-ACT PLAYS

The one-act plays, usually a highlight of the Carnival Weekend, were held a week and a half early this year, at 8:00 p.m., February 19. Under the able direction of Mr. Thompson, a cast of sixteen actors and actresses combined their talents for the enjoyment of townspeople and Gould students.

Preceding the first comedy, the band rendered a piece entitled "Village Chimes." Between the first and second plays Marijane Brown and Mike Hathaway gave solos, Marijane on the saxophone and Mike on the trumpet. Four girls provided the entertainment during the next, and last, intermission, singing "Holiday for Strings," this quartet consisted of Patsy Probst, Konnie Chase, Eleanor Kimball and Jewel Bean.

"Champagne Sec," the first of the comedies to be presented, was the amusing story of a man whose wife reappears after twenty years. Meanwhile the man has remarried and thus finds himself a bigamist. Though both wives are apparently undisturbed, the hero commits himself to the sheriff's hands, seeming rather happy to escape his spouses.

A fantasy by Tennessee Williams entitled "The Case of the Crushed Petunias" was the next presentation. This tale centered around a young woman, very staid and proper, who suddenly discovered joy in living.

The final selection, an uproarious comedy called "Gay Ninety" with Jane Coffin in the role of a plane-loving, ninety year old grandmother, kept everyone laughing throughout the performance.

Certainly the director and the entire cast deserve to be congratulated for the fine entertainment they gave their audience.

"AU REVOIR," PVT. AUGER

On Saturday, February 8, the students and faculty of Gould Academy participated with warm enthusiasm in a going-away party for Mr. Gilles Auger, instructor of French, who left on February 23 for six months' training in the armed services.

Several short variety numbers were presented by the students at intervals during the party and were enjoyed by all. A skit, directed by Ann Carter, and several musical numbers arranged by Pat Coolidge and Donna Smith, as well as Mr. Gannon's excellent singing, provided the evening's entertainment. Dancing was carried on between the skits.

The students and faculty were very happy to present the popular French teacher with a tan leather traveling case, for which they were graciously thanked by Mr. Auger.

Miss Macdougall is to be commended for the work she did and thanked for the time she put in as advisor of the whole affair.

We'll all be pleased to see Mr. Auger back on campus next year. "Bon voyage, Monsieur Auger."

COMMENTS FROM THE BOARD

I feel complimented to be asked for remarks as a Trustee and take it as an indication you do not hold us at an awesome distance. Those of us residing here have a local interest beside the deep responsibility of all of us to make and keep our academy the best there is. While I am not a graduate, my aunt, Grace E. Ames, was in the class of 1887 and I spent the winter of 1898 in the old Grammar School Building in the shadow of Hanson Hall.

Momentous changes have occurred since then, earlier at a slow pace but now looming faster ahead, as the world goes hurtling thru space. It was timely that the recent article in the Citizen clarified the present position of Gould in the Town's educational scheme by setting forth our origin and development. What effect the operation of the Sinclair Bill will have is problematical but it will not be permitted to impair the unsurpassed value of the Academy to the town.

Currently the introduction of a "Joplin Plan" in the Grammar School promises an improvement in the ability of future students to get the most out of Gould studies.

SKIERS' BALL

The 1958 Carnival Queen and her four attendants were honored Saturday evening, March 1, at Gould's annual Carnival Ball. Beneath a spray of lacy snow flakes and star-studded streamers, a swirling mass of figures spun round to the melodious tones of Lou Lennon's Orchestra. Stopping momentarily, all participated in the Grand March, led by Edith Stevens and her court.

During the intermission, Mr. Richardson announced the results of the week's activities for class competition to a breathless crowd of loyal enthusiasts. The Class of '59 triumphed!!

Dancing was resumed until the last notes of the Goodnight Waltz faded away and the array of frothy gowns disappeared into the night.

Thus another successful event, sponsored by the Outing Club with the help of Mr. Richardson as general chairman, Heath Sandbach and Sally Webber as heads of the Decoration Committee, Judy Watson on Refreshments, and Sally Webber again acting as chairman of the Program Committee, may be written in the annals of the 1957-58 school year.

terest in civic responsibilities. Altogether the future looks very promising for a mighty fine school in a mighty fine town.—Kimball Ames.

SAFETY PROGRAM AT GOULD

On Feb. 8 Trooper Herman J. Baudreau, a representative of the Maine Highway Safety Committee, gave a truly impressive talk on accidents and why they occur. To make his program even more realistic, Mr. Baudreau passed around actual photographs of accidents which have recently taken place in Maine.

Trooper Baudreau spoke of organizing a Safety Council here at Gould which would take precautions against possible accidents. Included in the responsibilities of this council would be the organization of parking in the lot, pedestrian traffic, and the development of safe driving habits.

A unanimous show of hands in favor of the council seemed to prove that Mr. Baudreau had been more than successful in stimulating a fresh interest in highway safety.

Since this program, the Student Council, which will set up the whole campaign, has written a letter to Baudreau expressing the desire to obtain membership cards for everyone.

Also, a meeting was held to revise the Safety Council constitution left by the Trooper, so as to better apply it to Gould Academy.

JUNIOR MASTERPIECE TRIUMPHS

The Gould campus was alive with activity the week preceding the Carnival, as all four classes got their snow sculptures underway. Mounds of snow were transformed into very unique works of art.

The freshmen very cleverly represented a "dead skier." He, lying flat on his back and dressed in a skit outfit complete with accessories, won third place.

The sophomores, following today's trend towards space travel, made a Vanguard rocket ready for a "blast off." This sculpture, which was in front of the Girls' Dorm, took fourth place.

The juniors' Jaguar, which dominated Mr. Ireland's lawn, stole the show! The "x.k. 1959" was equipped with everything including duals, a steering wheel, gear shift, and even front fender mirrors. This took a lot of patient work to win the number one spot.

After much debating, the seniors finally turned out an interesting portrayal of a "snow bunny." It was decked with goggles, a hat, and a ski sweater; this captured second place.

Being interested makes one interesting.

The number of people who will go hungry for the sake of their convictions is always relatively small.

IT'S UP TO YOU

There are moments in every man's life when he is sure that the road he must trudge is all uphill, that the thing for which he is striving, be it health, happiness, good marks, a college degree, or a successful career, is an impossible goal, and that his particular burden is too great to bear; then in creeps the insidious desire to give it all up—to quit! At this point comes the crucial test, for with every victory won over failure comes strength and courage for the next encounter, while every time one yields to discouragement, he further weakens his will to win.

There is often but a hair's breadth between success and failure, and a man may well discover that triumph would have been his had he but stuck it out another day—another hour.

So remember, if you can, when the struggle seems hopeless, that

"A quitter never wins,
And a winner never quits!"

"PART-TIME ADULTS"

There is nothing that we teenagers dislike more than being called "children" or "kids". Most of us feel, and undoubtedly rightly so, that when we reach the ages of fifteen, seventeen, or even nineteen that we should begin to be considered as adults, not infants who need to be told every move. We are developing into individuals and wish to be considered so.

However, as the old, but oh so true, adage goes, "You can't get something for nothing." Translation: You will not be treated like an adult until you conduct yourself like same!! Age does not make maturity! You are judged by the appearance you make, not by your birthday.

A great many of us employ a convenient, but age-old ruse: the part-time adult. At a party or any social affair we put on a big front, talking and acting as if we were the perfect example of sophistication. However, the next day, when it comes time to support some organization or function, we decline, or just plain don't show up at all, hoping people will attribute it to the fact that we are, after all, not yet full-fledged grown-ups and therefore can't be expected to be punctual and dependable.

In an institution such as Gould, trust is another factor which determines degree of development. Teenagers howl to be allowed to do thus and so, can't understand why there have to be teachers present, etc. They don't realize that if a group, no matter how large or small, is given any great amount of freedom, almost invariably, someone, yet a "child", will do something which may jeopardize the happiness and safety of his contemporaries and his school.

Only when we can be trusted and depended upon, only when we act and think and talk like adults will we be considered as such!

Senior Spotlight

BILL GALLAGHER

A fellow who has a warm, friendly smile for everyone—that's Bill Gallagher, one of the most popular boys of the senior class.

Bill was born in Huntington, West Virginia, on October 30, 1940. He stayed there until he was five and then moved to Portland, Maine, where he attended St. Patrick's for his first two years of schooling. The family then moved to Naples, Maine. Upon graduation from the Naples grammar school, Billy entered Gould, and since that time he has become one of the best-known boys on the campus.

Bill has made a good name for himself both scholastically and athletically; he has been on the honor roll every term.

He was assistant manager and then manager of football in his freshman and sophomore years, then went out for the sport in his junior and senior years, playing quarterback. Also, Bill has played basketball all four years. In the spring he participates in track.

A popular member of his class, Bill was elected treasurer in his sophomore year and was a representative to the Student Council in his sophomore and junior years. He is treasurer of the French Club this year and is also a member of the Academy Herald staff.

Bill is one of the two boys from Gould who this year qualified, scholastically and physically, as a finalist in the NROTC program.

In the future he plans to

DAWNE CHRISTIE

A member of the senior class who has certainly proven to be most outstanding is Dawne Christie.

Born in Belfast, Maine, on May 6, 1940, Dawne attended Bethel elementary schools. It was obvious even then that here was a very capable person who would surely go far.

Music has been and still is her chief enjoyment. Having taken piano lessons for 7 years, Dawne not only is a fine pianist, but also plays the organ for both the Methodist and Congregational Churches.

While at Gould her achievements have been many. As a 4 year member of the Chapman Club, (2 years as its president), an accompanist for several of the glee clubs, and a band member, Dawne has proven herself talented, responsible, and energetic.

Dawne is an excellent actress through her participation in the one-act plays; moreover, her original ideas have been applied in several amateur skits which she helped to write.

As to the future, Dawne, though not yet sure which college she will attend, plans to major in English and music.

Good luck, Dawne, and congratulations on a fine career at Gould!

study aeronautical engineering in college. We all know that Bill will be a great success in whatever he does and wherever he goes.

SENIOR

Happenings that made history in the senior class have been limited to only a few since the last issue.

However, two of our fellow classmates received honors worth mentioning:

One was the Bausch and Lomb Award given each year to a senior student as a result of his outstanding work in the field of science. This year the award was presented to Herbert Morton III.

The other award, a Certificate of Merit as a result of an outstanding performance in the 1957-58 National Merit Program, was won by Heath Sandbach.

Members of the senior class snow sculpture committee were Konni Chase, chairman; Sara Ault; Judy Brown; Kaye Blake, Anita Morel; Pat Joslin and Stan Fuller. Congratulations on an oeuvre d'art, Rabbits!

JUNIOR

The juniors certainly proved their abilities this past weekend, having captured first place in the Winter Carnival. That Junior snow sculpture, a sleek sports-car, cleverly designed under the supervision of class president, Kirk Newson, and several other Jaguar fans, was just the greatest!

Thanks to Sally Webber and her crew for the wonderful decorations for the Carnival Ball, and thanks also to those juniors who volunteered their much needed help during the busy week-ends of the New Englands and the Carnival.

SOPHOMORE

The three one act plays went off very well on Wednesday, February 18, with two sophomores, George Elliot and Lorraine Cole, participating.

During the Carnival, held February 28 and March 1, our class showed up very well, missing first place by only four points, but taking fourth place for the snow sculpture!

The members of the William Rogers Chapman Club spent many long hours perfecting the wonderful concert which was presented Friday evening, March 7, at the gym.

Congratulations to the sophomores, Donald Christie, Kent Taylor, Mike Hathaway, and Mary Jo Head, who helped make the affair such a success.

Classmate Steve Yeaton did a top-notch job announcing for the New Englands at the ski hill.

CLUBS

French Club

The French Club has plans well under way for its annual party in April. President Rox Liston has appointed different committees to take care of the preparations. At the last meeting, the club gave a farewell party for Mr. Auger and presented him with a gift.

Student Council

The Student Council has been busily working on the Highway Safety Program. A special group was appointed to alter the proposed constitution to fit the needs of the school. At a recent meeting, the council voted to finance the new freshman orientation handbook which is to be published next year.

Camera Club

During the past few weeks the Camera Club has been busy taking pictures of the Carnival activities and one-act plays; members have also been preparing material which is to appear in the "Academy Herald." At a recent meeting, a movie was shown entitled, "America in Pictures." The lecture on photochemistry, started at the previous meeting, was completed.

Gould Winter Carnival

On Saturday, March 1, the Gould Academy Outing Club sponsored the interscholastic slalom and jumping events as part of the Gould Winter Carnival. The whole affair was well-managed, and no one could find fault with the conditions, as there was nearly a foot of snow on Friday and Friday night. This left a packing problem, which was expertly handled by the ski team and several Outing Club members.

Mr. Kalley set up the slalom course, which began part way up on the downhill trail. However, due to the heavy snow and tardiness on the part of several skiers, the meet began a little later than planned. In fact, many of the competitors failed to appear at all, and the field of runners dropped to 28.

After Mr. Kalley foreman and finished with the best time, contestants placed in this order: first, Hubbard of Dow Academy; second, Cotton of Gould; third, Saunders of Gould; fourth, Gets of Edward Little; fifth, Appleton of Gould.

Lunch was served at 11:30, and at 1:30 the jumping began, the results of which are as follows: first, Gets of Edward Little, who jumped 113 feet; second, Durgin of Edward Little; third, Liberty of Edward Little; fourth, Elliot of Rumford; fifth, Upham of Edward Little.

Prizes, awarded to the first four places in each event, were given out immediately following the jumping.

Outing Club

The work of the Outing Club during the past few weeks has been centered around the Winter Carnival, probably this organization's most important function. Congratulations to Mr. Richardson and all the members who made the week end of February 28-March 1 such a success.

GIRLS' GYM NEWS

Many things have happened since the last issue of the Blue and Gold, for we're right in the middle of changing seasons. This week being the last one for basketball, there has been a mad rush to make up absences in order that points may be earned.

In top position we see the Senior II team, which is captained by Sharon Bedell. The group has only one defeat which was against the sophomores. Close behind is the freshman team. The rest of you had better get going, for the winner of the peg will soon be decided.

A true sign that spring is just around the corner is the new, though same, gym apparatus which have been moved into Bingham gym. Gone from daily classes are the basketballs, and here to stay for a few weeks are the trampoline, parallel bars, jumping horse and tumbling mats. Now we shall see who excels in the act of "real" gymnastics!

Saturday, March 8th, the long-awaited "playday" with Kennett of North Conway will have arrived. The girls' basketball and ski teams will leave early Saturday morning for the big event, which we hope will be a success. Good luck to you all!

Well, it seems Bonnie Prudon will never give up, as each day seems to bring one of the new inventions to the girls' gym classes. Oh, our aching bones! For all those who are interested, Bonnie has an article on them in this month's "Readers Digest."

The term gym exam being over, we found it paid off to learn the Gould song, which Miss Duffy drilled into our heads, when Mr. Ireland had the girls serenade the faculty and boys. It's good that she didn't hold to her first threat, eh what?

In a few weeks many of the girls will participate in the ping-pong and badminton tournaments. Start practicing, and let's have a good turnout, what do you say?!

Last but not least, let's not forget to mention the many casualties of recent weeks. Crutches—crutches and more crutches!!! Those floors must be mighty slippery!

OSCAR'S OBSERVATIONS

It's interesting to observe that when you write a friendly letter, it's YOU that you put into the envelope—the very essential personality which is yours, like your fingerprints, and no one else's. What a warm feeling we get when an especially voluble writer sends you a missive, chock-full of color, brimming with good spirits, cheery, gossipy,—for a few minutes he is right here with you! Lift the flap—and like the genie of Aladdin, he has been released for a few golden minutes of reminiscence and comradeship—Oscar almost said "togetherness,"—but, praise Webster, stopped just in time!

EXCHANGE COLUMN

Most of the schools that Gould has the privilege of exchanging with have been going through the same gay fun as we Gouldites have. The spirit of Carnival is dominating the headlines of most of the school editions.

Edward Little, of course, donated much of its paper to its exceptionally fine ski-team and very pretty carnival queen and attendants.

The following are from the "Spaulding" of Barre, Vermont; the first is dedicated to Mr. Emery and his loyal chemistry students!

Sing a song of suicide, a beaker full of lime,
Four and twenty test tubes breaking in a line.
When the corks were opened,
The fumes began to leak,
Boy, what a mess to have three times a week!

He who laughs last doesn't get the joke!

Some high school guys and gals seem to be getting a rather perverted idea of college life... When a certain senior boy asked his girl friend, "What is a stadium?" her immediate reply was, "A large field with a college attached!"

Your article on "Cramming" was very well done, Cushing. We here at Gould know just what you are trying to get at when you say it usually doesn't help, but, alas, it seems to be the fate of us teenagers to try it.

We have a few new (and some very familiar) expressions sent our way.

That is the way the mop flops!
That is the way the cookie crumbles!

That is the way the banana splits!

That is the way the ball bounces!

That is the way the shoe fits!

Alumni

Wally made his annual appearance at Gould for the Carnival week end and all its excitement. The little roving reporter greatly enjoyed the added attraction of the hockey games and mentioned in his letter how pleased he was to see so many alumni attending the many events of the week end. Barbara Leach, in her fur coat and Bermuda shorts, Jane Yeaton, Sue Andrews, Stanley Cornwall, Nancy Corkum, Russ Patterson, Carla Grover and many others were among those with whom Wally chatted at the ski meet on Saturday. (Wally was very pleased to see Verne Corkum and "Woody" Burnham back on the jumping skis.)

He also talked with Norm Hill, Bartlett Hutchinson, Arthur Mills and Paul Fossett during the course of the week end.

Even though Florida isn't having ideal weather this winter, Wally decided to fly down and at least escape from the snow.

Among the Gould alumni he found in Florida soaking up the sunshine were Dennis Robertson, Teddy Carter, Linwood Andrews, Deanna Puggs, and Laurier Kiltredge. They were all anxious to hear the latest news from Bethel and former classmates, so Wally filled them in on the highlights.

In his letter, Wally also mentioned something about making a tour of the midwestern states and the going to California. If he makes definite plans to do so, you alumni out that way be watching for him.

BOOK REVIEWS

One of the very best books on Communism, "The New Class," has rapidly become a best-seller and has rocked the Iron Curtain countries with a lethal punch. It is "an analysis of the Communist system" written by the one-time vice-president of Yugoslavia, Milovan Djilas. His reward for writing this book was a seven-year term in prison at hard labor. To Mr. Djilas, it was important to be true to one's ideals. Having been a Communist for years, he exposes those doctrines as no non-Communist could. His book, consequently, is doing a great deal toward stopping the spread of Communism in the world.

To a person who believes history is always dull, "This Hallowed Ground" by Bruce Catton is an example of the theory's weakness. Mr. Catton has written a vivid, living picture of the Civil War, and has done in prose what Steven Vincent Benet did in poetry, although the two are on completely different levels. By making dry facts come alive and skillfully weaving a complex picture of a complex war, Catton created an outstanding work which is sure to hold the reader's full interest.

OBITUARY

On the morning of February 27, "Abigail" of Senior Alley ended her brief sojourn here at Gould. Found memories of her will remain with us always!

The best preacher is the heart; the best teacher is time; the best book is the word; the best friend is God.

RECORD REVIEW

Johnnie Mathis' new album "Warm" has been found to provide some excellent listening during snowbound days in Maine.

Two records also in the popular field and climbing to the top with flip side hits are Perry Como's "Magic Moments" and "Catch a Falling Star," on the RCA label. Pat Boone's "It's Too Soon to Know" and "A Wonderful Time Up There" are recorded on Dot label.

The sound track from Warner Bros. musical hit "Pajama Game" has caught on very well around campus. Numbers included on this L.P. range from the lovely "I'm Not At All In Love" to the low-down goings-on at "Hernando's Hideaway!"

In the jazz world, Erroll Garner who, incidentally, doesn't read a note of music, surprised many with his beautiful album entitled "Other Voices," on the Columbia label, which he composed because "I felt them."

The ever-popular American Bandstand, with Dick Clark, declares the following platters as being very, very popular in the teenager's world of rock 'n roll: "Good Golly, Miss Molly" by Little Richard, "Short Shorts" by the Royal Teens, "Ballad of a Teenage Queen" by Johnny Cash, "Sweet Little Sixteen" by Chuck Berry, "Clack Clack" by Dicky Doo and Don'ts, "Movin' n' Groovin'" by Duane Eddy, and "Lollipop" by the Cordettes!

Dick Clark's Saturday night T. V. show furnishes excellent viewing for two reasons: 1. No commercials!!! 2. Performers are popular recording stars. Connie Francis, singing her hit tune "Who's Sorry Now," was one of his recent guest stars along with many other popular singers.

Girls Visit Kennett

With as little chaos as possible, the twenty-eight girls which make up the Gould Academy girls' basketball and ski teams, accompanied by Miss Duffy, left the campus at 9:00 A. M. for North Conway, New Hampshire, and the long-awaited Play Day with Kennett High.

Arriving at 10:00 A. M., the girls went directly to the Intervale Ski Slope, and upon their arrival, the ski meet commenced. The Gould girls made a valiant effort, making a special impression, for they were clad in the parkas and sweaters of the Gould ski team. Jane Greig and Sue Merrill placed second and fourth for Gould, with Samuelson, Pope, and Warren placing first, third, and fifth, respectively, for Kennett in the slalom.

In the downhill, Jane Greig was disqualified after an unfortunate mishap which caused her to miss the last gate; Sue Saunders and Sue Merrill placed fourth and fifth for Gould, and Pope, Samuelson, Lloyd Johnson, and Warren took first, second, third, sixth, and seventh, in that order. The other members of the team—Sue Martin, Peg Luke, Sue Appleton, Heath Sandbach, Joan Fox, and Eleanor Kimball—did a fine job also and supported their team well.

The totals of the two events: Slalom: Kennett, 94.1; Gould, 93.5; Downhill: Kennett, 96, Gould, 87.4. The final total: Kennett, 190.2, Gould, 180.9.

After a time out for lunch, the girls gathered for the basketball game in the gym. Kennett made a good start and led Gould strongly all the way. The half-time score was: Kennett, 30, Gould, 6. After a hard fight in the second half, Gould's team rallied and brought the score up to 45-30, Kennett still in the lead. It was a hard-won victory, however, for the home team. Mary Jasper was high scorer for the visiting Gould team with 12 points; Blake was high scorer for Kennett, totalling 15 points. Other members who carried the Gould team along were F. Merrill, J. Smith, and the guards.

Although the girls were not completely victorious, it is agreed that with every meet, more experience is acquired, and that this day was a big success indeed.

GOULD—SOUTH PARIS

On Friday, February 7, Gould lost one of its last home games to South Paris by a twenty point margin. Before an excited crowd, Gould led for the first quarter, 11 to 13. However, Paris spurred ahead and led at the half, 24 to 28. Paris increased its lead during the third period and finally won, 65 to 45.

Guy Whitten headed both teams in scoring, hitting 24 points for Gould. King of South Paris, got 18, followed by teammate Neit who scored 16. Smith, of Gould, made 14. The game was fast, exciting and one of the most interesting to watch of the season.

Husky Hoopsters Wind Up Season

GOULD VS. ST. PATRICK'S

In one of the closest games played by the Gould squad this season, the Huskies lost to St. Patrick's High School of Berlin, New Hampshire, on February 12, 1958. Gould got off to an excellent start, leading 20-7 at the end of the first quarter; they held this lead well to the end of the third quarter, being out in front by a score 56-47. However, the St. Patrick's team came to life in the last period of play, scoring fifteen while holding the visitors to six; thus, they took the contest, 64-62.

Guy Whitten of Gould was high scorer, piling up 30 points. He was followed by teammate Steve Smith with 18. The next four on the list, all in double figures, were all of St. Pat's; this was what decided the hard-

GOULD—FARMINGTON

On Friday, February 14, Gould, in its best-played and hardest-fought game of the season, dropped a thriller to Farmington: score—67-61. It was the last game for some, and the squad battled right down to the wire. Although Farmington took an early lead, the Huskies cut it down to 6 points by the end of the first quarter. In the fourth quarter, Farmington again led by 15 points, but was only 5 points out better at the final bell.

For Gould, Captain Guy Whitten scored 28 points, followed by Jim Hill with 11. High scorers for the Farmington team were Davis, with 15, and Pratt, with 14.

Saturday turned out a miserable day: rain and sleet. Condi-

On the week end of February 14-15, 1958, the New England Interscholastic Ski Championships were held at Bethel, Maine, the host team being Gould Academy. Gould was ineligible to compete because of not having placed high enough in the state meet; however, the Huskies were allowed to fore-run and post-run.

The meet was favored with plenty of snow and good skiing conditions. Friday dawned cold and windy, with snow flurries—accompanying strong winds; but Saturday was nearly perfect, being sunny and comparatively warm.

The whole town of Bethel, as well as Gould Academy, co-operated in the feeding and lodging of the 125 skiers. Bunks were set up for Thursday and Friday nights in Holden Hall, in the Field House, and in private homes; meals were served to the teams at the Congregational Church, the Masonic Hall, and in the dormitory.

Many students from the Academy who were not members of the ski team were recruited to serve in such positions as checking and communication.

On Friday morning, the downhill races were held at the Swan's Corner Hill. John Bower of Edward Little took first place in this event. In the afternoon of the same day the cross-country event, which began and terminated on the athletic field, was held. John Bower again was the individual winner.

On Saturday the remainder of the meet was run at Swan's Corner. In the forenoon was slalom, won by Mel Jodrey of Edward Little, following in the afternoon by jumping. The latter event was won by Bower, giving him three first and top individual honors in the meet.

In team scores, Edward Little was first, following by Laconia High School. Other teams participating were Kennett, Stephens, Farmington, Lyndon, Brattleboro, Pittsfield and Dow Academy. Also competing were several individuals. It is interesting to note that, unofficially, Gould had a team score between those of Edward Little and Laconia.

Praise is deserved by all the participants, coaches, checkers, communications men, officials, and many others, who helped to make this meet a success.

Friday night, as soon as the snow had been cleared off the ice, three fast and furious hockey games got under way. Something may have been invented here, though, as brooms and a rubber ball were used instead of the conventional sticks and puck. In the two preliminary games, the seniors trounced the juniors (1-0) and the sophomores beat the freshmen (4-0). In the play-off for the championship, the seniors trounced the sophomores (1-0).

Many thanks to the faculty, ski team, and any others who helped make this competition possible — also, thanks to the competitors for their bravery in facing both flying skis and flying brooms.
